

Paired-clone reset assay

Stimulation enters as 64-channel electrode pulses; behaviour is read as channel-level activity. The full weight vector is observed for analysis but is never used by the actuator or readout.