

Targeted pathway ablation erases like naive replacement; magnitude-matched scrambles do not conditioned electrode association pattern discrimination

