

Task-path ablations versus matched random and global controls

